DECISION UPHOLDS EMERY'S STAND ON CONTENT OF BUTTER

Internal Revenue Commissioner's Decision Will Be Used To Fight Sarge Bill.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 15.—A "Danish" bill, called for judgment in behalf of State Dairy and Food Commissioner J. Q. Emery, upholding him in his fight for maintaining the 82 1/2 standard of fat content for butter. Opposition to the maintenance of this standard provided the ammunition for the recent bitter but unsuccessful fight against the reappointment of Mr. Emery, and now the war has turned and the militant commissioner has been given another weapon with which to fight the Sarge bill to reduce the butter fat requirement to 80 per cent. This bill is supported by the creamery and butter interests for the state and a hearing will be held on the measure on Thursday morning before the assembly committee on purity of commodities.

The decision upholding Commissioner Emery's stand was rendered by Internal Revenue Commissioner Cabell last week and a copy of this decision today. The specific order of the department is contained in the following excerpt:

"On and after May 1, 1911, this office will not entertain or consider the plea of butter manufacturers, as the basis for relief of any special and stamp taxes due, that the incorporation of 18 percent or more of moisture was accidental, but in every case where it is shown the product contains excessive moisture, all taxes incurred on account thereof will be assessed and collected; also forfeiture proceedings and criminal prosecutions instituted in cases where the facts demand such action."

The importance of this decision to buttermakers will be further appreciated when it is known that to sell butter below the required standard costs the manufacturer 10 cents per pound tax, and $500 for a special license.

The decision will be a body blow to the efforts of the butter makers to secure the passage of the Sarge bill, which Commissioner Emery has been preparing to oppose at the committee hearing. It has been contended by him that the 82 1/2 per cent butter fat requirement is justified under the investigations of the federal agricultural department, which is passing on the tons of butter packed for the United States Navy under a 15 per cent moisture limit—lower than is otherwise required—found that manufacturers had no difficulty in complying with this high standard. On this point, the internal revenue commissioner says:

"Therefore it is evident that manufacturers can control the moisture content of butter, but in their effort to get as near the limit as possible, oftentimes exceed the same, and thereupon set up the claim that it was accidental and without knowledge or intent."

CAMMORIST TRIAL IS REALLY BEGUN: JURY IS SECURED

Government at Last Succeeds in Securing Twenty-four Men to Serve on the Jury.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]
Viterbo, Italy, March 15.—A jury of twenty-four men, twelve acting as substitutes, was finally completed today to try the murderer, Enrico Alfano, and the thirty-five other Camorristi. The work of securing this jury has almost worn out the patience of the government and heavy fines have been imposed upon those summoned to serve who eluded the officers and left the country.

Sketch of the great scene in the greatest criminal trial in Italy's recent history. The 36 members of the dreaded Neapolitan Camorra on trial charged with murder. The prisoners are kept in an immense iron cage like so many rats in a trap to prevent escape by sympathizers. From the cage the Italian camorristi hold defiance at their accusers and troops are stationed in a phalanx around the iron cage to hold back the angry mobs of peasants. At upper left is portrait of Enrico Alfano, leader of the Camorristi.

SPRING SHOE STYLES

Hundreds View the Latest Red Cross Models.

The Red Cross Shoe displays at D. J. Luby & Co. now is the most interesting shoe exposition ever given in this city.

The prevailing narrow styles allow a woman's foot to be seen so distinctly that shoes have become as important as hats. The variety in styles, materials, colors and sizes makes an interesting demonstration of the progress this industry has made within the last few years.

The Red Cross Shoe, with its comfort combined with its fashionable models, occupies such a unique place and fills such a need among women that each season we find the demand doubled.

GOLFERS PLANNING FOR BUSY SEASON

Much Enthusiasm Shown By Members of the Shinnissippi Golf Club Over the Prospects.

President J. P. Baker, of the Shinnissippi Golf Club, is authority for the statement that the coming season will see more golf players on the local course than ever before. In speaking of the club's plans and prospects he said yesterday: "Everything points to a most successful year. We are receiving applications daily from men who want to become active members and everything is most encouraging to the officers. No chairman of the next house committee has as yet been selected but this matter will be taken care of in plenty of time to make arrangements for the opening of the season as customary in May."

At the annual meeting of the club held in January, it was decided that the sum of $200 be appropriated from the general funds of the club for the use of the house committee so that the dances each week during the season can be free for the members of the club. These dances have become one of the most popular social features of the club life, and were held on Tuesday, following the club supper. The appropriation for this purpose will free the new house committee of considerable annoyance in selling tickets and will increase the attendance at the dances.

"As to the course," President Baker said, "I believe that it is quite enough for the planned to play some of the best. We have an ideal course and well laid out and golf interest is at its height here just now. Already many go to the links for games during the week and enjoy the exercise and games played. Several home and home tournaments will also be arranged later in the summer, which will increase interest."

The Bolot Country club organized last year, has engaged Arthur Clarkson, a professional to lay out their links and instruct their players who may desire it. This is customary in all new clubs and helps greatly in bringing up the interest in the game. Doubtless several contacts between Jamesville and Bolot players will be arranged for during the summer.

STUDENTS ENJOYED TALK ON ASTRONOMY

Rev. R. W. Roberts of Edgerton, Gave A Stereoscopic Lecture To High School Students Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon, Rev. R. W. Roberts of Edgerton, spoke to the students of the local high school on astronomy. Rev. Roberts is a great enthusiast in the field of astronomy and for many years past he has studied the heavens.

The lecture consisted of a very interesting description of some fifty lantern slides, which Prof. Arundel showed on the screen. The first few slides were photographs of the great telescope in the Yerkes Observatory, located near William's Bay on Lake Geneva.

The next slides were photos of Halley's comet, taken with a large telescope and showing the rapid approach of the body toward the earth. Also there were photos of the comet at its best, showing the breaking up of its tail and other interesting phenomena.

The remainder of the slides were devoted to photos of the planets. They dealt mainly with Mars, the moon and the sun. The views of Mars showed the prominent characteristics of that planet and the clouds on the surface were clearly seen. The various phases of the moon were illustrated by drawings and cellipses were shown and explained. Then larger views of the planets and moon were thrown on the curtain which the craters, oceans and mountain ranges were plainly seen. Views of the sun were explained. These chiefly dealt with the sun spots which were clearly visible.

Rev. Roberts has just installed a new sixteen inch telescope in his laboratory at Edgerton. The lens in this telescope costs several hundreds of dollars and a slight scratch might greatly injure it.

CLINTON.
Clinton, March 15.—S. S. Jones took his sheep to market in Chicago Monday night.

J. H. Snyder and nephew are busily engaged in fitting up the building known as the old school house on the corner of South Second and Front streets as a garage. The exterior is being painted and machinery is being installed.

Mrs. H. A. Anderson left this morning for Chicago to visit her daughter, Mrs. Thompson.

The 20th Century club met Monday night with Mrs. E. H. Kizer. A very large attendance was out, and the program given by Mrs. F. W. McKinney, Mrs. W. S. Northway, Mrs. L. L. Shannon and Miss Bertha Vandenberg was exceptionally fine. The musical part given by Misses Hazel Mayberry, Gertrude Snyder, Mayme Monroe and Adeline Bruce was greatly enjoyed by all.

HAVE REARRANGED ROUTES OF PAPER

Entire Delivery System of the Gazette Has Been Readjusted to Better the Service.

The entire delivery and routing system of the Gazette has been changed in the city of Jamesville with an idea of securing better service for subscribers. Under the new arrangement the delivery should be more prompt and considerable earlier than heretofore.

During the first period of change there are doubtless a number of the stations where the paper may be undressed or the delivery not in accordance with the desire of the subscriber. If you will report all such occurrences by phone to the office the complaint will receive prompt attention.

All papers should be in the home not later than six o'clock, unless something unavoidable has occurred to machinery at the office, and if your paper has not arrived by six o'clock call the office and a paper will be sent by special messenger.

REGISTRATION NOT REQUIRED OF VOTERS

Law Does Not Require Electors to Register This Spring—Primary Registration for Spring Elections.

Registration at the primary and spring elections this year will be unnecessary, the names of qualified electors in the city having been registered at the election last November. This, however, does not exclude from voting those whose names were not entered on the registry lists last fall, as the men whose right to vote is challenged may qualify by "swearing" of their vote; that is, swearing to the fact that they have resided in the state for one year and in the precinct in which the elector desires to vote on days. This document must be signed by two freeholders who file bonds of $1,000 each. The primaries serve as a registration for the spring elections. Registration is required by state law but once every two years.

The inspectors, clerks and ballot clerks of the election in each ward will be almost the same as last spring, as they hold the position for two years by appointment from the mayor. The only change is in the First ward, where a vacancy was caused by the death of David Conger, who acted as ballot clerk. To take Mr. Conger's place, I. A. Whitton has been appointed to the board of inspectors. The list complete for all the wards is as follows:

First Ward: Inspectors—Charles H. Eller, chairman; J. P. Baker, and G. H. Harvey. Clerks—H. W. McNamara and W. D. Dowling. Ballot clerks—A. W. Hilda and T. Mulquin.

Second Ward: Inspectors—S. C. Barnham, chairman; Charles T. Campbell and E. P. Pearson. Clerks—F. H. Snyder and P. H. George. Ballot clerks—D. McGinley and Louis Trumble.

Third Ward: Inspectors—H. J. Cunningham, chairman; George J. Davis and A. Smith. Clerks—S. H. Wooding and George H. Smith. Ballot clerks—C. H. Gibson and J. P. Hefernan.

Fourth Ward: Inspectors—W. E. Spicer, chairman; M. McKelque and Charles Atwood. Clerks—Adolph Knudson and William Hemming. Ballot clerks—Charles N. Riker and A. W. Bugge.

Fifth Ward: Inspectors—George T. Croft, chairman; J. A. Sutherland and H. M. Joyce. Clerks—F. A. Sutherland and T. P. Whalen. Ballot clerks—Thomas Sullivan and George Kanner.

City Clerk Roy Cummings has been engaged for some days past in making preparation for the primaries which will be held next Monday in order to facilitate the work and prevent a rush at the last moment.

Wise Saying.

Far around and beyond whatever is exceptional and illustrious in human life stretches that which is average and unperceived.

A Great Service.

It is a great service to create an honest smile as we meet one another in this heavy-laden world.—The Rev. Dinahale T. Young.

Coffee Trees in Liberia.

The Liberia coffee trees attain a height of more than 20 feet. The price of the product is eight and nine cents a pound at the plantation.

Very Fine.

Isaac's house was for sale and he told his friend Abram about an offer he had had.

"Samuel Levinson said he would give me five thousand dollars for it."

"Hah!" Abram grunted scornfully. "He didn't get five thousand dollars to his name—he can't buy it."

"Well, I know he can't. But it was a mighty fine offer."—Lippincott's.

Is Highest Point.

Hazleton claims that the highest inhabited point in Pennsylvania is in that city, at the corner of Thomas and Eleventh streets, where the elevation is 1,867 feet above sea level.

SHAKESPEARE SAID

"Throw physic to the dogs." Of course Shakespeare lived in the days of castor oil and opium salts and we don't blame him. In Shakespeare's time bowel laxatives like cascara were unknown; the world took physic and there was always war somewhere or love-making. Pharmaceutical and chemical science of modern times has perfected bowel laxatives of just worth—laxatives that tone up, strengthen the natural action, stimulate the liver and assist nature. The very best of these are the Badger Pink Liver Pills, composed of cascara and other vegetable laxative and tonic remedies.

Pink Liver Pills do not contain phosphorylthall that new fad put up in sugar waters of pretty color. These waters have no curative properties. Pink Liver Pills are taken out at a dose and the dose is not increased but actually diminished after a few days, proving their worth as a curative agent in constipation. Try a box 25c. PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

My Dear Gazette:

Alvin, Tex., March 11, 1911.
Texas is suffering from a serious drought having had but very little rain since December. Strawberries are only about one-tenth to one-twentieth of a full crop. The drought last year killed about half the planting, then the February freeze came after we had been picking a week and killed half the fruit, and unless we get rain the later bloom will not mature a crop. We have picked twice in two weeks. Not enough good berries each time for one crate of twenty-four boxes which sold for $3.25 and $3.50. One man had two acres sold he got a crate a day. We rode yesterday for three hours and saw probably fifty acres in bearing, but not a picker on any field—they may have picked all there was in the forenoon. We passed over one hundred acres of newly planted strawberries that looked well and if the seasons are favorable there will be profit in the fruit. The trucking was killed in January and again in February, and the later planting will hardly pay to ship north.

In all our ride yesterday we saw but one orange tree with a little bloom, and acres of trees being cut to the ground that had been profitable orchards. This "Satsuma" orange is a new industry and seldom if ever has the fruit reached the northern market, but if over the 100,000 acres get to bearing, as the trees bore last year, there will not be freight cars enough to move the fruit. This variety is earlier than the Naval and will not come in competition unless held in cold storage. The cold of January (12 above) and February (20 above) has cooked the oranges and figs all through this belt and there will be little if any of this fruit for a season. The figs are injured worse than the oranges, but the oranges are killed back two years' growth and many trees are dead to the ground. I did pass a field of big cornstalks yesterday, the first I have seen in Texas, and but for the "corn weevil" which works in the ripe grain, it might be a success.

My boy has quite a number of acres up big enough to cultivate, hoping we will have no serious frosts this spring. We expect to leave for Chicago the 21st and get home April 1st.

Yours truly,
GEO. J. KELLOGG.

Regular Occupation.

"No man can live in absolute idleness," said the ready-made philosopher.

"That's right." He'll be reasonably busy some of the time if he does no more than tear the leaves off all the calendars presented to him every year.

Good Scheme.

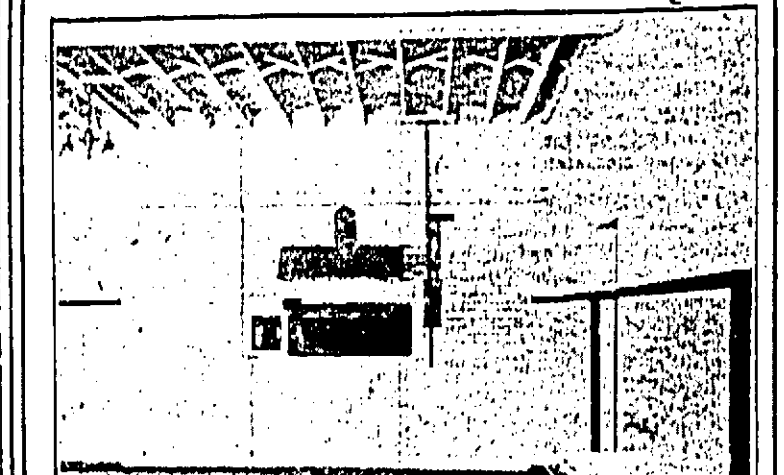

"I see the sheriff is advertising your stock for sale."

"Yes; and he's getting quite a run for business. I wish I had tried advertising myself."

How's the Baby Today

We are going to suggest that you give it a dandy outing every sunny afternoon in one of our beautiful

Go-Carts, Oriole Carts Or Baby Carriages

It will pay for itself in healthfulness and pleasure to the baby. The line this season is remarkably comprehensive, embracing all styles of go-carts, very pretty rattan baby carriages in the new French designs, the English Baby carriages and the clever American novelty the Oriole cart. Made of rattan, fitted with two wheels, it can be carried on the arm or rolled as a go-cart. It is very light, yet very durable. Take the baby anywhere in an Oriole. When you go visiting, it serves as a high chair by setting it on a common chair.

And Ask to See the FREE Sewing Machine

It is the only machine on the market that is insured against breakage, against fire, against theft, against everything and everything. It has all the good features of other machines and 25 exclusive patents. You can buy it at $1.00 per week. Come in and see it. The price is exceptionally moderate.

After The Wedding Bells Go To Kimball's

TROUBLE ON WHEELS

"I know you've had the happiest kind of a summer," said Beasie, the maid of honor, who had just met Claribel, the June bride, for the first time since the wedding.

"Well, we had a very nice honeymoon," answered Claribel, enthusiastically, "but the rest of the summer was—well—the summer has been kind of—of different."

"Why, Claribel, you don't mean to say that you and Ned aren't as happy as you expected to be? You secured an excellent match to each other."

"We are well suited to each other and we should have been fully happy, if it hadn't been for Uncle James. He has almost spoiled my life."

"How could your Uncle James spoil your life, child?"

"By giving us an automobile for a wedding present."

"Why, I think that was a perfectly lovely and generous gift."

"Well, maybe you're crazy over automobiles, Beasie. But I'd rather have a husband than an automobile."

"You have both, haven't you?"

"No, I haven't."

"I haven't Ned half the time," she went on with her plaint. "I suppose if I were properly brave and strong-minded I shouldn't confess even to you that Ned thinks more of that automobile than he does of me. Why, when it gets out of order he is almost beside himself, and it's always getting out of order. When it's running all right he doesn't talk about anything except how well it goes. He wants to be in it or working on it every minute he can spare from the office. I've hardly had a chance this summer to wear any of my pretty things. I might just as well have had nothing in my trousseau but motor clothes."

"You are making out a very pathetic case for yourself, but somehow I don't find my sympathies aroused."

"You can't understand, for you've never had a husband who would rather clean a car than do anything else. Why, Ned, who used to be so careful in his dress, now actually likes to be greasy all the time. And it seems to me that he considers his time wasted if it is not spent with the machine. He hardly wants to come into the house to eat, even. Sometimes I feel as if I couldn't stand that automobile any longer."

"But don't you enjoy riding?"

"Sometimes, when everything goes well, but it's awful when anything goes wrong. Ned looks as gloomy as a thunder cloud if I ask what's the matter. So I just have to sit still and attempt to look placid while he tries every screw and bolt in the machine. And when we get a puncture, I never knew until the day one of the back tires blew out and the other picked up a nail that Ned, my Ned, knew any—any strong language. Why, Beasie, he said dreadful things."

"Well, my dear, there was some excuse for him. You know even the best of men express themselves with some heat under great provocation. So, really you mustn't be too severe with Ned."

"He's severe with me, though. He wishes me to be ready to go out in the automobile at any minute and he's dreadfully impatient if I keep him waiting an instant. But sometimes I sit in the car an hour while he does to the machine all the innumerable last things he can think of before starting."

"I've just made up my mind to tell him. I think I'll tell Ned that he will have to choose between that automobile and me."

"Claribel, you know you don't mean what you say."

"Yes, I do. I never would have married Ned if I had had the slightest idea that he was going to pay all his attention to a machine. Waking or sleeping that car is his only thought."

"I think Uncle James might have waited a year anyway before giving us that old killing. I'm going to come to some kind of an understanding with Ned about it. I'm not going out in it any more for a while. I want to stay at home and keep my house and be domestic, as a wife should. There's the telephone. Please excuse me a minute."

"Yes, it's I, Ned. Beasie heard her say sweetly at the phone."

"Yes, dear, I can be ready right away. Beasie is here. She would enjoy a ride with us, I'm sure."

"No, of course we won't keep you waiting, dear."

The Health of the Soldier.

Undoubtedly the main reason of the army medical officer is not that of a practicing physician or surgeon, but is that of a preventer of disease. Neglect of proper sanitary precautions among the troops has been decimated by preventable disease. If the Japanese and German army authorities can prevent disease from gaining a foothold among the troops why cannot the American and British army authorities? The truth is that a more intelligent system is in vogue in the Japanese and German armies, and what is more to the point this system is rigidly carried out. Co-operation between the line officers and the medical officers as suggested by Munson would be a long step in the right direction, but unless the necessary sanitary measures are enforced by strict discipline there would be of limited effect.—Medical Record.

To Clean Brass.

Old brass, it is said, may be purified by scrubbing with ammonia and a brush and rinsing with pure water.

By Joining the Skavlem Piano Club You Can OWN a GOOD Piano For Less Than It Will Cost To RENT a CHEAP One

Go to any piano store you wish and rent a piano. They will charge you $5 and Cartage. The cartage will amount to anywhere from to $3.00 to $6.00, according to location, and whether or not it is to be delivered upstairs or has to be hoisted. The use of the piano afterwards will cost you $5 a month—maybe in some instances it may only cost you $4—but in either case you only get a second-hand piano and you only get the use of it. You don't own it.

By joining the Skavlem Piano Club you start immediately to own your own piano. You are paying on your own instrument.

The very first payment you make—Five Dollars—while it does not more than pay for the delivery, yet it is credited to your account.

The balance is payable, $1.25 a week. Seventeen cents a day. The piano is delivered immediately. You do not have to wait until the club is filled. You get your piano when you join.

There is nothing added in the way of extra charges.

No cartage to pay—no interest added. Simply pay the initial club dues of $5.00 on joining the club—then a dollar and a quarter a week as regular dues, until $277.50 has been paid—and you own the piano yourself.

The whole proposition is easier and simpler than renting a piano than the other fellow owns after you are through with it.

Who Should Join the Club

- 1st—Young married folks should join the club.
- 2nd—Young couples about to be married should join the club.
- 3rd—Young persons who are anxious to learn to play the piano, but who, through force of circumstances, will have to buy and pay for their own instruments.
- 4th—Single teachers who are just starting their professional career should join.
- 5th—Societies, club, lodges and Sunday schools that have small stated incomes should take advantage of the easy conditions of the club.

These Pianos Are Worthy of a Place In Any Man's Home

They are of a most reliable and trustworthy character. Good substantial pianos in which the real value is put on the inside, rather than in fancy cases with a whole lot of "gewgaws" on them. We know it to be as reliable a piano as was ever put in a home. It is made by good, sturdy German labor in one of the best manufactories in the world; by men, many of whom have been working in the same shop for twenty to twenty-five years.

These pianos are worth $375. They sell regularly $375. Many of them have been sold right here in Janesville for $375. Hundreds more are being sold every month all over the United States at $375. They are worth it. They are worth it on our floors, or on the floors of any reputable piano dealer in the country.

The Skavlem Club price is $277.50. The price includes everything.

There are no extras of any kind. No interest to be added. Nothing to be added for drayage, scarf, stool—absolutely no extras. Two hundred and seventy-seven dollars and fifty cents is the price, and the price includes everything.

A Stronger Guarantee Cannot Be Put Upon a Piano Than the One We Give With These

We know these pianos so well—we know them to be so good—that we have gotten up the strongest guarantee to go with them we know how to make. If the English language can make one stronger, we are willing to sign it. We have eliminated every "if" and every "doubt." The language of the guarantee is the spirit of it; which is to give each and every person who purchases one of these instruments positive and absolute protection. We print herewith a copy of the guarantee which is handed to each and every club member in writing the moment they join the club. Can you think of or suggest a guarantee that will be stronger?

For the convenience of people who cannot come in during the day the store will be open every evening until 10 o'clock.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST.
Fair, continued cold tonight; Thursday fair with rising temperature.

TO ALL READERS

The Gazette is anxious to bring each of its readers into closer touch with both the newspaper and each other. It would like to have them feel free to send in news items. Notices of parties, personal mentions, happenings in your own community, accidents that may occur—in fact anything that you think would interest other readers. Matters of this nature can be telephoned to the editorial rooms, Call Rock county telephone 62, or Wisconsin phone 77 three rings. Meetings of lodges, church gatherings, and special meetings of clubs it will be necessary to have written out and left at or mailed to the Gazette to avoid mistakes which might otherwise occur. The columns of the paper are also open to communications on subjects of interest. Write your own articles, on one side of the paper only. Be sure and sign your name; it will not be published if you do not wish it to, and either leave or mail to the office. This system and you will be surprised how much more interesting the reading of the evening paper becomes to you.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Chimney Fire: It required half an hour's hard fighting by the fire department this morning to extinguish a chimney fire at the S. Truitt home at the corner of Washington and Racine streets. A still alarm of fire was sent into the department at seven o'clock. The high winds made the work of the firemen more difficult.

Admitted to Probate: The will of the late Agnes Barry was yesterday admitted to probate before Judge Grinn. It was a case appealed from the county court.

Naturalization: The last of the cases of the final hearing of petitions for citizenship was finished in the circuit court yesterday afternoon, when Nicholas Krenkel of this city was made a citizen of the United States.

Circuit Court: Judge Grinn left last night for his home in Jefferson, and will not return before Monday unless business in the circuit court demands.

Paying Up: County Treasurer A. M. Church is receiving all the tax money from the town, village and city treasurers today. With twenty-seven in all to hear from, about a dozen have brought in their money.

Drunk From Beloit: Alfred Henderson came to the county jail last night when he will spend ten days in default of the payment of a fine of $2.50 for being drunk on the streets of the line city.

Big Sum for Farm: According to the papers in the office of the register of deeds, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kennedy have disposed of a quarter section of land in Rock for $11,130 to Samuel Jackson.

CARLOS BROWN WAS SUMMONED BY DEATH

One of the Oldest Settlers of State and Rock County Passed Away This Morning After Long Illness.

At half past 10 o'clock this morning occurred the death of Carlos Brown, one of the oldest pioneers of this county and the southern part of the state. He was nearly ninety years of age and had been a resident of Janesville since 1850 when he came here with his wife who passed away July 1, 1907. Mr. Brown had been ill for some ten months past and had been cared for by his nephew and

CARLOS BROWN.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerold Brown, who came here about two years ago to live with their aged uncle. The deceased was born in Bangor, New York state, April 16, 1821, and here he secured his early education and training. On October 17, 1849 he was united in marriage to Miss Lucia A. Brown of Vermont, and the same year they left on their honeymoon trip for the west where Mr. Brown had determined to locate. Two weeks were consumed in the journey from Vermont to Milwaukee, from where they went to Beloit, to visit some friends and then they continued to Janesville.

Since that time Mr. Brown has made this city his home and lived for over fifty years in the old home on the top of Fourth avenue hill. Janesville was but a small village when he located here and his was the active part of the pioneer in building and shaping the destiny of the city. His occupation of contractor and builder gave him more than the usual opportunity to add to the city's growth and he was well known to all the other citizens of this part of the state.

He was an industrious worker and came from a sturdy ancestry which endowed him with strength and longevity. He was honored and respected by all who knew him and his death will be regretted by many friends.

His two sons, Walter R. and Edward, have preceded him in death and he leaves a sister and four brothers: Ira of Bangor, New York; William of Boylston, Mass.; George of Way's Mills, Quebec; Charles of Michigan; and a sister, Sarah, of Bangor, New York.

The funeral will be held Friday morning at half past ten from the home. Rev. J. C. Hazen will officiate and interment will be in Oak Hill.

STATE BACKING FOR LOCAL CHICKEN MEN

Financial Aid From Legislature Called Forth By Success of Last Exhibit.

With every indication pointing towards the passage of a bill introduced in the legislature by Assemblyman Gray Fisher is now pending which will have financial aid in the shape of money premiums for the next poultry show under the auspices of the southern Wisconsin poultry association of this city. Not only will it be for next year, but will mean a continual state backing for the ventures of the local organization, which recently terminated such a successful show.

That the association is now in a solid footing was well illustrated by this season's exhibit, held in the west side rink. Over twelve hundred birds from all over the middle west were shown at this event and interest was maintained in the entries by some of the most famous and best known poultry fanciers in the country. The Janesville show ranked third in the middle west, better than in size only by the exhibits of Chicago and Kansas City. The cash prizes and premiums which were awarded exceeded the expectations of the directors. Following this success, the legislature has taken a liberal stand on the question and are about to come to the front in aiding in a material way any future events of this nature given by the local association.

Now the association has incorporated under the name of the Southern Wisconsin Poultry Association, with a capital stock of $500, divided into non-dividend paying shares. The names which appear on the papers filed with the register of deeds yesterday, are E. H. Green, John H. King and Clarence Hemmings. They have incorporated for the advancement of the poultry industry and intend to arrange for an annual course of lectures of poultry subjects.

COTTAGE LAND ON ROCK RIVER.

Blossom Poultry Farm offers for sale, one of the most desirable pieces of land for cottages on Rock River. It is located opposite Mages's Park, on the main road, six miles up the river, and consists of a piece of land about 10 rods long on the river, and about 14 rods from the river to the road. This is on a regular daily mail route, and the telephone passes this land. The land is high with perfect drainage, a beautiful bank and surrounded by large trees. It is an ideal spot for a summer home. We will sell in pieces to suit and on easy terms. For prices and terms apply to Blossom Poultry Farm, W. H. Ashcraft.

MILLER TRIAL IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Trial of Local Saloonkeeper Accused of Keeping Saloon Open on Sunday Heard Today.

Today at 10 o'clock in the case of the City of Janesville against Edward W. Miller, who is charged with violation of the Sunday closing laws, the trial was held in the municipal court. The case was called before Judge C. L. Miller in the municipal court. Miller will hear the case. The preliminary hearing in the case of Miller, in drawing a panel of eighteen men from which to select the jury, was held in this morning, and a recess taken until one o'clock this afternoon to get the jury. Twelve names being called, a list by the attorney, Mr. C. L. Miller, and Maxfield had charge of the proceedings and Attorney Charles Miller appeared for the defense.

The six men selected by the attorney this morning to pass judgment on the case were: W. H. Conrad, Leslie R. Trout, Ed. Keimigier, Chas. H. Schaller, S. H. Locke, and George W. Breese.

The trial was begun at one o'clock this afternoon. Chief of Police Appleby and Officer Thomas Morrissey testifying for the prosecution that they had entered Miller's saloon on the evening of Sunday, March 5, and had found four men in the saloon. All were standing at the bar. It was stated, and two of them held glasses, partly filled with beer, in their hands.

Three of the four men in the saloon at the time the chief and officer Appleby entered the saloon were brought in as witnesses by the defense—James Leonard, Grover Miller, and Charles Briggs—the fourth, Joseph Briggs, being out of town.

The two first named testified that they had been in the saloon to work on a miniature aeroplane and truck which was being installed there, and that no liquor had been brought out. William Dullin also swore as to making a bet with Miller on Saturday night that the aeroplane and truck would not be in place by Monday morning.

At three o'clock this afternoon the taking of testimony in the case had not been concluded. Charles Briggs being the last to take the stand. The case may go to the jury late this afternoon.

ZUKOWSKY PLEAS

THE APOLLO CLUB

Fifth Concert For Present Season Given Last Evening At Library.

Hall by Noted Violinist. What proved to be one of the most interesting concerts given during the present season by the Apollo Club, was held last evening at Library hall.

Alexander Zukowsky, the noted violinist, who has appeared in Janesville twice before, gave a most delightful program, assisted by Miss Della Thiel. Zukowsky is a violinist of rare ability and his numbers last evening were carefully rendered and most finished.

Miss Thiel, who acted as his accompanist also had several special selections on the program that delighted her audience.

H.THEURWHACKER IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Myers Hotel Employee, Hurt In Inter-urban Struggle, Has Developed Form of Meningitis.

Harry Theurwhacker of Fond du Lac, whose injuries which he received in an accident on the inter-urban road this winter, have caused him to be confined to the Myers hotel for the past five weeks, is reported to be in a very serious condition. His leg bone was injured in such a way that complications have developed in and according to the latest reports meningitis of a severe form has developed, together with what may be a brain abscess.

Dr. C. L. Mils of the Northwestern Medical school faculty, and a specialist in this line was called yesterday and pronounced the case meningitis. The doctor also said that the chances for recovery were very small and stated that it might prove fatal within two weeks' time. The local physicians on the case, however, have determined to fight the disease in every way possible and are considering the use of a serum treatment.

Following the accident Theurwhacker suffered of a lame shoulder and at the same time sustaining an injury to the jaw bone. He was taken to the hospital where his condition has steadily grown worse. He had been employed at the Myers hotel for the past twelve months.

SUES FOR DIVORCE; HUSBAND MISSING

Mrs. Schaefer of Beloit, Alleges That Husband Abused Her and Deserted Her Leaving Seven Cents.

Alleging that her husband deserted her last November and that upon leaving her he only gave her seven cents to live on, Mrs. Herman Schaefer of Beloit, today filed a suit for divorce in the circuit court, on the grounds of desertion, drunkenness and ill treatment. In the complaint, the plaintiff alleges that in several instances before he had left her without any means of support and had stayed away for some length of time.

The couple were married at Lehigh, Wis. in the fall of 1909. Other charges against Schaefer are the use of profane language, a habit of sulking about the house and of displaying a terrible temper at certain times. At present, the man cannot be located, although an effort has been put forth on the part of the sheriff. He was last heard from in Roseville, Ill.

Local High School Team Is To Meet Stoughton At The Milton College Gymnasium.

Next Saturday night at the Milton College Gymnasium the Janesville high school basketball team will meet the team representing the Stoughton high school. Definite word to this effect was received this morning by Coach Knudson from the Appleton authorities.

The game is made necessary by the fact that Stoughton is also qualified for entry in the tournament to be held at Appleton and therefore she is determined to contest the entry of the Janesville team. A neutral referee will officiate promptly a game from the University of Wisconsin.

Since the gymnasium at Milton is larger than the local high school gymnasium, the Janesville boys will continue to practice at the rink. They are determined to make even a better showing over their opponents in this game than they did in the routine game of last week. It is also certain that the Stoughton team is determined to win and so both teams will enter the arena with the determination "To Win or Die."

POLITICAL NEWS OF TOBACCO CITY

Contest at Coming City Election Centers About the Choice of Aldermen.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Edgerton, March 15.—The date of the annual municipal election for the electing of city officers, April 1, is fast drawing near; likewise, the aspirants for office are beginning to get busy. At this election three aldermen, for the first, second and third wards, respectively, are to be elected, one justice of the peace and one supervisor for each of the three wards. While but little has been said or done by any of the aspirants for office, yet matters are fast assuming shape for a fight along the line of a better and cleaner line of city government, and it is known that the contest principally centers in the aldermanic line. For justice there will also be a fight made. So far as the supervisors are concerned nothing in particular has come up although it is probable that changes will be made.

CAREER OF MONTE CARLO MAY CLOSE

Great Gambling Resort May Be Put Out of Business as Result of Troubles in Monaco.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)
Monte Carlo, March 15.—Last Monte Carlo's career as a gambling center for the entire world has abruptly terminated, tremendous pressure is being brought by the Casino interests to effect a settlement between the Prince of Monaco and his subjects.

The progressive party is not at all satisfied with the constitution which the Prince recently granted and a formidable revolutionary movement is brewing. The Prince on his side, thinks he has yielded enough and is standing out vigorously against any further concessions. What the Casino interests fear is that so troublesome a situation may develop that France will be forced to establish an effective protectorate over the principality, in which case it is considered certain that the Gallic authorities would have to suppress open gambling. The most they have been able to do thus far is to obtain the progressives' promise to take no action until after the present season is over. The Prince is of course satisfied to do nothing so long as he is not further troubled.

ARGUMENTS IN TOP LINE CASES WERE POSTPONED

Hearing Before Interstate Commerce Commission, Set for Today, Adjourned to Next Month.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Washington, D. C., March 15.—Arguments in the so-called "top line" cases, which were to have opened before the Interstate Commerce Commission here today, have been postponed until next month. The cases are regarded as of the highest importance in railroad circles, as the question of what constitutes a common carrier and also the question of rebates are among the issues involved.

Building An Ocean Palace.

The building and launching of an ocean palace, or rather a little world afloat on the high seas, is one of the wonders to be depicted by Lyman H. Howe at the Myers theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, March 15 and 16, and matinee on Thursday at 1 p. m. To give everyone an insight into how such a magnificent, complex and vast structure is reared, Mr. Howe assigned a photographer to the task of photographing the new and huge White Star liner "Olympic," in every stage of its development, from the scenes in the designing room to the launching. When the levitation finally started over the slips to seek its new home in the sea, he had six photographers in many locations, fore and aft, to show with what majestic precision the enormous ship glided into its native element. The ship, which is nearly one-third of a mile long, will accommodate 2,500 passengers and a crew of 800.

A ride on a dirigible balloon over Switzerland; another on the swiftest motor boat in the world—the Ursula, of 800 horse power; a ramble through fashionable, political, financial and historical London; spectacular dynamiting of big buildings in Messina; landing passengers in a rough sea at Tunis; describing portraits of prominent Americans; a dangerous and bloodless bull fight in bad example only a few of the many big features on the new program.

They are perfect in construction, the best silo it is possible to make. Read this letter.

QUICK WORK

Gentlemen:—The Silo purchased of you late in the Fall and put up in great haste, owing to the season, has proved perfectly satisfactory. I bought this Silo for a man by the name of Wm. Kline, of Abconquin, and from the time he decided to have it it was not over twelve days before it was up and filled. The quality of the lumber was good and the manner in which it went together perfect. I think I have never seen a better job than this silo shows today, and the feed keeps perfect. Why farmers buy from Indiana and Michigan when they can get such good work at home is beyond me. Yours truly,

EXPERT PREDICTS WAR WITH JAPAN

Great German Writer Prepares a Critical Opinion.

FORCED TO FIGHT THE U. S.

Count von Reventlow Declares Mikado's Country Must Rule the Pacific in Order to Continue World Power.

Berlin, March 15.—Count von Reventlow, the famous German writer, is about to publish a critical opinion concerning the relations of the United States and Japan which, in view of the count's reputation here as an expert, is certainly worthy of attention.

The count asserts Japan unquestionably is preparing for an aggressive war against the United States with as much care as she prepared for the struggle with Russia. He says statesmen are convinced the mikado's empire cannot continue to exist as a great power without absolute naval supremacy in the Pacific, which also is indispensable to her commercial prosperity.

"The desire for this supremacy is the logical result of Japan's efforts to command the Chinese markets and defeat the attempted conquest thereof by the Americans," says the count. "Japan realizes she does not possess the enormous financial resources or the technical commercial efficiency of the Americans. She also recognizes that the United States has the means to expand her navy and army beyond the power of Japan to compete."

Aims to Deprive U. S. of Bases. Therefore, according to Count Reventlow, Japan's aim is to deprive the United States of all bases in the Pacific before the American fleet has gathered an overwhelming supremacy over that of Japan.

It is clear that by seizing the Philippines, Hawaii and the American portion of Samoa, as well as Guam, Japan could create a permanent and unalterable advantage for herself.

The count goes on to say there can be no doubt but that Japan is now in a position to seize these islands.

McFARLAND SHADES MORAN

Chicago Boy is Given Decision Over Briton in Ten-Round Battle at New York.

New York, March 15.—Packey McFarland, the clever Chicago stock yard pugilist, won the decision over Owen Moran, the classy little Briton, in a ten-round exhibition last night at the Fairmont A. C.

McFarland had the better of five rounds; Moran never had the advantage in any. It was a great display of boxing by a pair of marvels. The boys fought more on the defensive than the offensive. Moran admitted that his rival had the better of the show, but, added Moran: "I had to give away weight, height and reach."

FIND SEVEN BODIES IN MINE

Rescuers Still Work to Save Living If Possible, in "Norman Slide" Disaster.

Virginia, Minn., March 15.—Still banding to the work of rescue, the three big crews of stolid foreigners who without abatement, have gnawed into the "great Norman slide," will pause long enough to remove their ore-stained caps while the first funeral of perhaps 17 to come passes out to the cemetery near by.

Seven bodies have been recovered from the mine.

LYNCH NINE NEGROES

REPORTED BLACKS KILLED BY TENNESSEE STRIKERS.

Unconfirmed Rumor Says Three Other Men Are Slain in Railroad Trouble in South.

Lexington, Ky., March 15.—Nine negroes lynched in Tennessee just across the Kentucky border and three men killed in the mountains near Kings Mountain station by striking firemen on the C. N. O. & V. P. R. R., are reports that reach here. An engineer on a north-bound passenger stated that three men were killed near Kings Mountain, but no official confirmation could be obtained.

Several passengers who arrived here from the south said that nine negroes were lynched by strikers in the northern part of Tennessee, just across the Kentucky line.

FEVER CLOSES BRYN MAWR

Pembroke and Denbigh Halls, as Well as Infirmary, Are Under Quarantine.

Philadelphia, March 15.—Three cases of scarlet fever among the 400 students at the Bryn Mawr college for girls; within the last 24 hours resulted in the faculty practically closing the college. All lectures have been suspended for ten days and Pembroke and Denbigh halls, as well as the infirmary, have been quarantined.

PRAISE GREY'S TALK

SIR EDWARD'S SPEECH IS CALLED EPOCH MAKING.

London Papers Generally Indorse British Approval of President Taft's Arbitration Ideas.

London, March 15.—Sir Edward Grey's epoch-making speech, as every liberal calls it, in which he referred to President Taft's recent arbitration address as "bold, courageous and pregnant with consequences," and added that he believed that the British government and parliament would place the stamp of approval upon the sentiment expressed, has aroused enormous interest throughout Europe, and is the absorbing topic in the parliamentary lobbies.

By universal consent it is the most important pronouncement made in parliament in many years.

"The wagon of the English-speaking people is now hitched to a star," said Sir Henry Norman. "The rest may come slowly, but it will come, and it will date from 1911."

Similar opinions were expressed by the most progressive members of the house of commons. Indeed, many members connected with the arbitration movement found it difficult to believe that Sir Edward Grey had not made sure of his ground with regard to the negotiations with the United States before going so far in a public utterance.

Lord Hony, the British delegate to The Hague conference of 1907, heartily welcomes the idea and thinks that a general arbitration treaty between Great Britain and the United States might be the occasion for the establishment of a permanent arbitration tribunal and that the only possible opposition in America would come from the Irish section.

MABRAY GANG FACE COURT

Eleven Men, Indicted for Sporting Events Frauds, Are Brought to Trial.

Council Bluffs, Ia., March 15.—Eleven men indicted two years ago for fraudulent use of the United States mails, and known as associates of John C. Mabray, now serving a term in the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., were brought to trial in the United States district court.

Mabray was convicted of using the mails to defraud by means of fake sporting events; horse-racing, prize-fights, wrestling bouts and foot-racing being his specialties.

BULL TERRORIZES A TOWN

Girl Attacks Animal With Knife, Preventing Maddened Brute From Injuring Baby.

Huntington, Ind., March 15.—A maddened bull, escaping from a confinement of cattle shipped here from Texas, terrorized the town. Pauline Koughan, aged thirteen, was the heroine of the hour, attacking the animal with a knife she had been using to pare potatoes. She prevented the animal from injuring her baby sister.

MINERS MAY CALL STRIKE

Lewis Declares That Unless an Increase in Wages is Granted Men They Will Walk Out.

Columbus, O., March 15.—Tom L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, declared in a speech here that ten thousand coal miners in the Tuglacaw field would go on strike if an increase in wages was not granted them by Monday.

FLAMES CAUSE $65,000 LOSS

Two Banks, Hotel and Several Stores Destroyed by Incendary Fire at Tallula, Ill.

Jacksonville, Ill., March 15.—Fire which is thought to have been of incendiary origin for the purpose of burglary and robbery, destroyed six business houses at Tallula, 20 miles north of Jacksonville, entailing a loss of $65,000. The buildings destroyed were the Farmers and Merchants bank, the Bank of Tallula, the general merchandise store of C. M. Scott, hardware store of Henderson and the Sartorius drug store and the Young hotel. The Jacksonville fire department went to Tallula by special train and assisted in stopping the fire.

Port Worth, Tex., March 15.—Nearly two acres of stock sheds burned here, roasting to death between 600 and 1,000 head of horses, sheep and dogs and seriously burning four men. The value of the dead animals is estimated at about $250,000, and the property loss $50,000.

Davenport, Ia., Wins Peace.

Davenport, Ia., March 15.—Through efforts of the members of the Great Davenport committee practically all labor difficulties threatening the city were settled when the master builders and the district council of carpenters settled a dispute of long standing.

Second's Last Refuge.

Patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel.—Johnson.

Favor Votes for Women.

Carson, Nev., March 15.—The senate has passed the measure submitting the question of woman's suffrage to a vote of the people. The assembly previously passed the bill.

WHEN ABNER GOT MAD

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

Miss Eunice Glasser was a "sorter" old maid, but it was not her fault. Abner Jackson, who was a "sorter" old bachelor, had been courting her for five years without actually popping the question. She lived with her widowed mother in the village, and he worked a little farm just outside.

Abner wasn't lazy. He was just a good natured puke of a man. He was going to get married some day, but there was no hurry about it. He always talked as if he intended to marry Eunice, but he didn't come down to details. He didn't ask her to name the day and arrange the bride's train, but she was getting rather tired of it when her Aunt Hannah came on a visit. Aunt Hannah saw Abner two or three times, understood his nature and then said to her niece:

"Look here, you've got a puke of a man hanging around after you, and it may be ten years more before he'll say anything about marriage. Are you going to put up with it or do something?"

"Why, auntie, what can I do?"

"Get mad at him and make him think he's going to lose you."

"If only laughs when I get mad."

"Then set in and criticize his feet, his nose, his eyebrows. Tell him that he's the homeliest man you ever saw."

"I don't think he'd mind it at all."

"Didn't you ever see him show any temper?"

"Not a bit. He was run over by a drowsy of hogs once and got up laughing. No, you can't make Abner mad. He's a puke, but an awfully good man."

"And are you going to keep right on for the next fifty years, are you?"

One afternoon three or four days later a vinegar barrel with one head on it was left at the house by the grocer to be used as a rain barrel. The house stood on quite a hill, and there was a sharp slope down to the village street.

About the hour Abner usually appeared Eunice was sent on an errand to the other side of the village, and when the "puke" arrived Aunt Hannah was the one to greet him. She took him to the corner of the house where the barrel stood and promptly began:

"See here, Mr. Jackson, you've been dawdling around here for years. What are you after?"

"Why—why?" he stammered as he leaned up against the house and could say no more.

"Oh, you can't tell. I know you couldn't. You've come here almost every night in the week for months and years and squatted yourself down, and what for? Your talk can't interest anybody. The sight of you isn't inspiring. If I was Eunice I'd just as soon have a wooden man around. And yet you come and squat and squat. I ask you, sir, what you mean by such conduct?"

"I guess I'll go home," answered Abner, who was too astonished to see straight.

"And I guess you won't," said Aunt Hannah, "at least not until you have explained yourself. I've been looking at you. If I had a cow as homely as you are I'd knock her in the head with the ax. Hump shouldered, bowlegged and feet like an elephant, and yet you come here and squat around and take up a girl's time! Why, man, what can you think of yourself?"

"I'll never come again!" exclaimed Abner in a changed voice.

"That's good. That's what I wanted to hear you say. Go and squat somewhere else. Go and find the homeliest girl in the country to match you. The first time I saw you I knew you was a puke of a man and you hadn't got enough to push a load off his neck."

"Woman, be careful! If you aggravate me too much!"

"Aggravate an old puke? Why, man, it would take you three years to get mad, even if you started in tonight."

The next thing she knew who was being lifted off her feet in Abner's strong arms and deposited in the handy barrel. Before she could yell twice the barrel was whirled on its side and given a kick to start it down the slope. It took an erratic course. It ran to the right a few feet and then shifted to the left. It stopped for a moment at a gooseberry bush and then dodged and jumped clear over a crabapple tree. There were yelling and screaming from the inmates of the barrel, but Abner stood and watched the circus and shouted back:

"I'm a puke, am I? I'm a squatter, am I? I've got bowlegs and humped shoulders and feet like an elephant? God damn your hide, roll on!"

And the barrel rolled, and Aunt Hannah rolled, and neither of them stopped rolling till the barrel crashed through the fence and brought up against a shade tree in the street. No one was killed. No bones were broken. Aunt Hannah crept out and up to the house and was just flushed with the heat of the arctic when Miss Eunice came rushing in with radiant face to exclaim:

"I was coming back home—and I met Abner—and he was swearing—and he grabbed me by the arm—and he said he'd break my neck if I didn't go right to the preacher's and be married—and—"

"And you went?"

"Yes, and we were married. I had to be. Abner didn't puke any more, but the awfulest, determinest man you ever heard of. Why, auntie, he told me to tell you that you could go to thunder and be damned to you!"

STANDARD ASKS RETRACTION

John D. Archbold Telegraphs Elgin Pastor Who Assails the Company.

New York, March 15.—The Standard Oil company denies that it subscribed to a corruption fund alleged to have been used to secure to William Lorimer his seat in the senate. The following telegram was sent last Thursday to the Rev. Milton B. Williams, pastor of the First Methodist church, Elgin, Ill.:

"Dear Sir: In the morning papers of this date it is reported that at a mass meeting held in Elgin to denounce Senator William Lorimer, you said that $25,000 had been spent in the recent session of congress to obtain the acquittal of Senator Lorimer and that this money had been put up by the Standard Oil company and other big financial interests."

"As the statement is falsely and wholly false so far as it concerns the Standard Oil company, I call on you for an immediate public and complete retraction and an apology for libel and slander. The heat of public discussion does not protect the plain citizen, much less a minister of the gospel, in such unmeasured denunciations from the rigors of the law."

JOHN D. ARCHBOLD, Vice-President Standard Oil Company, 26 Broadway, New York.

ELEVATOR FALLS; THREE DIE

Cage Drops Four Stories at St. Paul—Victims Plunged in Wreckage—Four Hurt.

St. Paul, Minn., March 15.—Two girls and a man are dead and several persons are injured as the result of the fall of an elevator in the wholesale fur house of Gordon & Ferguson, Fourth and Broadway. The dead:

Little Huesling, William Zschicht, Girl supposed to be Gertrude Smith.

The injured: Little Heller, fatally, Mary Conklin, Zenetta Vinter, Mand Hallow.

The cage fell several floors and the dead and injured were plucked in wreckage at the bottom of the shaft. When the cage struck the bottom of the shaft the counterbalance weight at the top dropped onto the imprisoned occupants.

Kill Sunday Ball in New York.

Albany, N. Y., March 15.—After a long debate the assembly defeated by a vote of 65 yeas to 73 nays the bill to legalize Sunday baseball by amateurs.

English Most Widely Spoken.

The most extensively spoken language is Chinese, but as there are so many dialects in the language, and as these differ so greatly in the confines of Mongolia and Tibet from those around Peking, it is scarcely correct to say that the 382,000,000 Celestials all speak one language. Putting, therefore, China aside, the most spoken languages in the world are as follows, in millions: English, 120; German, 70; Russian, 68; Spanish, 44; Portuguese, 32.

A Daily Thought.

Thoughtful people have doubts, but doubts ought not to be the sum total in life. Doubt ought to be like clouds that by and by are swept from the sky. We have got to have sun and sunlight, and the blanketing of the clouds must come some time or the sunlight must get at the flowers of the world, lest the flowers fall to bloom and exhale perfume to the sky.—William A. Quayle.

Danger in Open Fireplaces.

In view of the astounding fact that in one year 1,634 London children have died in consequence of injuries received from open fireplaces, an effort is being made to have a law enacted to punish parents who leave children unguarded in rooms that have such fireplaces. A similar inquiry might be made with important results in America. In the comment made by the New York Observer.

Magazine Hint.

When putting away old magazines in the attic, clip out the page which contains the table of contents and write the name of the magazine it belongs to and the month from which it was taken on the margin. Then any article can be referred to and the magazine and page found without any loss of time.

Flower That Has No Root.

There is a plant in Chili and a similar one in Japan called the "flower of the air." It is so called because it appears to have no root, and is never fixed to the earth. It twines round a dry tree or a sterile rock. Each shoot produces two or three flowers like a lily—white, transparent and odoriferous. It is capable of being transported 600 to 700 miles and vegetates as it travels suspended on a twig.

BUILDING COLONY HOG-HOUSE

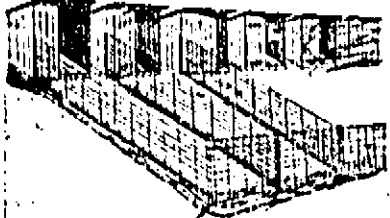

Excellent Manner of Using Old Scrap Lumber is to Put it Into Pens for the Swine.

(By J. W. GRIFFIN.)

One of the best ways to use scrap lumber is to build hog-houses out of it. If there is no old lumber lying around in the way, it will pay to buy new, even at the present high prices, and build the hog-houses.

If it pays to take care of the little pigs when the butcher's stuff is bringing four and five cents a pound, it is doubly profitable when they are eight and ten cents.

We have ten Jersey brood-sows and

The Colony Hog-House.

ten colony houses, built and fenced off, as shown in the drawing.

These houses were built out of lumber that came out of an old frame building, once used as a saw mill.

We bought the old mill, the frame of which was 33 feet wide, 100 feet long, and two stories high; all the framing timbers were as good as when put in the building. The scrap lumber we worked into the hog-houses and the frame and the best lumber will be used in the building an up-to-date food barn.

POINTS IN SHEEP BREEDING

Results of Experiments Conducted by Wisconsin Station Regarding Lamb Increase of Flocks.

A few years ago the Wisconsin experiment station published the result of a series of experiments it had been conducting in regard to the lamb increase of farm flocks. With the interest now being taken in sheep breeding, these will be worth recalling. The summary of conclusions is as follows:

1. From the breeding record of 514 ewes at this station we conclude that for such animals and conditions as ours the normal period of gestation ranges from 144 to 150 days after the date of service and that more ewes will lamb 146 days after service than at any other time.

2. There is no appreciable difference in the period of gestation for male and female offspring in sheep.

3. There is an apparent relation between the duration of the period of gestation and the period required for reaching maturity. Quick maturing breeds appear to carry their young for a shorter period than those breeds requiring more time to mature.

4. Large lambs are on the average carried in utero for an appreciably longer period than small or medium lambs.

5. Lambs dropped before the 144th and after the 149th day of pregnancy are lacking in strength and vitality at birth.

6. Shropshire ewes were more prolific than any of the other breeds and crosses except the fourth cross of Shropshire rams on a Merino ewe foundation.

7. From the data presented it is apparent that twins are the normal increase for ewes of the merino type.

8. One year old rams are not so prolific as those two or three years old. Ewes also average a larger percentage of increase in lambs after they reach full maturity at three years of age until after they are six years old, when the rate of increase diminishes.

9. The amount of services required of the ram in breeding has an influence on the percentage increase in offspring of the ewes, that produce lambs. Ewes bred early in the season of mating to a single ram, dropped a larger percentage of lambs than those near the latter end of the season.

Use of Wheat Straw.

Grain fed cows and cattle will eat large quantities of wheat straw if it is dry and clean. Most of the straw will be eaten, and what is left should be used for bedding. By feeding about all the coarse forage grown on the farm and using the straw for feed and bedding, a large quantity of rich manure having a quantity of carbonaceous matter that will bring the crop planted to which it is applied, and at the same time, improve the land for succeeding crops.

Satisfaction of Sound Harness.

The harness should be kept in good repair if for no other reason than to prevent so far as possible runaway traces with the green horses, which, if they once leave a run, are never again so reliable and steady. More than this, the precaution referred to may save repairs at the wagon shop and funeral expenses.

A COMING HOPE.

"The trouble with John," said John's younger brother to their father the other night, "is that he don't fight for his rights. He lets the boys at the school abuse him and all he does is feel bad. You bet, when they pick on me I get them by the hair and bump their heads against the fence."

"It is too bad."

"He ought to fight for his rights, oughtn't he, papa?"

"Yes, if he doesn't fight for his rights he won't have any rights."

"Worren't that, pap, if he don't fight for his rights he won't have any rights."

Heavy Guns Cause Damage.

Considerable damage has been done at Dover, England, by the firing of the heavy guns from the forts which have been erected to protect the national harbor. The town prior was sent round the town to advise the inhabitants to leave their windows open, but upon the firing of the nine-inch guns the vibration was so great that in many cases portions of the ceiling fell, many ornaments were knocked down and broken and windows were cracked.

Thunderstorm Observatory.

It is announced that a thunderstorm observatory has been established in Spain in which atmospheric discharges, both local and distant, are detected graphically and acoustically. A wireless telegraph instrument is used for this purpose, because each lightning discharge is accompanied by electro-magnetic waves similar to those used in wireless telegraphy.

Imminent Danger.

The great reformer set about to abolish all sinners. Then he paused and looked worried.

"What's the trouble?" asked the faithful friend.

"I'm up against a paradox," he answered. "When I get through reforming things and abolish all these sinners, I'll have none myself."

The Country Cottage.

The country cottage is the hope of the young and the solace of the old; it is the middle-aged, with their exaggerated ideas of comfort, their unreasonable desire for dry walls, brilliant lighting, hot and cold water, and the telephone, who complicate the question of the Saturday rush to the green fields.—Sketch.

WILL HEAR PACIFIC RATE CASES MONDAY

Commerce Commission Will Hold Final Hearing on Cases Involving Interpretation of Law.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Such phases of the so-called Pacific coast cases as were not finally disposed of by the Interstate Commerce Commission in its decision of last summer will come up for hearing before the commission in this city next Monday. The various cases involved in the proceeding will be those instituted by the City of Spokane, the Nevada State railroad commission, the Portland chamber of commerce, the transportation bureau of the Seattle chamber of commerce, the Mariposa County commercial club and the traffic bureau of the Salt Lake City Commercial club. As all of the cases involving interpretation and construction of the long and short haul provisions of the existing law, the thirteen applications made to the commission for relief from the operation of that provision in behalf of the transcontinental lines will be heard at the same time.

A Complete Showing of Spring Dress Goods

Our line of Wool Dress Goods offered here is entirely new for this season with the exception of one or two numbers which we have continued on account of their popularity for the past season. Satisfaction is the keynote of our Dress Goods offering. Every sample of the many hundreds submitted to us was carefully selected with that one end in view—satisfaction, both in price and quality. We are exclusive representatives in Janesville of an elaborate line of exclusive patterns and weaves in Imported and Domestic Dress Goods such as cannot be found outside the largest city stores. The wide range of selections and the dependability of our goods is a proof of the continued patronage of our customers.

Below is appended a selection of some of the novelties shown at The Big Store. Inspection invited.

40-IN. SILK WARP POPLIN

SCIENCE TOPICS WERE CONSIDERED

AT MONTHLY MEETING OF THE TWILIGHT CLUB AT Y. M. C. A. LAST EVENING.

WONDERS OF THE HEAVENS

Were Set Forth in Address By Rev. R. W. Roberts of Edgerton.—Mounds of Lake Koshkonong and Aeronautics Discussed.

Science was the general theme for the evening's discussion following the regular monthly dinner of the Twilight Club at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last evening. Before the program was taken up a motion was carried to the effect that the club donate $20 as heretofore, but instead of going as a prize to the school whose grounds are most improved during the summer, the disposal of the money should be left in the hands of a committee, composed of J. C. Hazen, Geo. S. Parker and E. A. Canale. It was the idea that this money should be awarded for the beautification of the city as the committee saw fit.

Dr. S. H. Buckmaster was the leader of the evening and presented the first speaker, Rev. R. W. Roberts of Edgerton who gave an address on the subject of Astronomy and illustrated his talk with some very fine stereopticon views.

"Far away from the earth," the speaker said, "are thousands upon thousands of stars of singular beauty. They are visible to us in the glare of midday but in the quiet of the night, when all nature seems asleep, the planets and stars roll and shine peering out of the deep blue heavens in solemn splendor."

The speaker gave some very interesting facts as to the distances of the stars and planets from our earth. The solar system is merely a speck in the great order of the heavens and our sun is only a tiny star. The earth, one of the small bodies revolving about the sun is 23,000,000 miles from the sun. At the rate in which solar travels it would take us 11 years to hear the report of an explosion occurring on the sun, or it would take a cannon ball 5 years and 10 months to come the distance, and the light from that body reaches us in only 8 minutes and 19 seconds.

With the magnitude of distance thus expressed in the matter of light travel, the speaker indicated what must be the distance of some of the stars from the earth. The nearest star is three and three fourths light years from this earth; most of the stars are 10 and 50 light years from us and many are 100 and 500 light years away.

Among some of the things shown by the slides were the spots on the sun, a map of the canals on Mars which are supposed to be built by the people there to conserve the water which melts from the ice floes about the poles; some interesting views of the moon were shown, comets, and their long fiery tails; groups of nebulae, and spiral nebulae which are given as proof of nebular theory of the solar system, the planets, Saturn with her rings, and other excellent views were thrown upon the screen.

Rev. Roberts touched upon many interesting questions in astronomy, but time did not permit any very careful treatment. It was enough for him to show the magnitude and grandeur of the heavens and indicate the marvelous order and system which must necessarily regulate these infinite bodies. It all could not help but serve as an inspiration and as a proof of the guiding care of a great divine intelligence.

"Early Mounds of Lake Koshkonong Region" was the topic considered by H. L. Slavens. He illustrated his talk by means of charts showing the location of the various mound groups about the lake and indicating the size and character of these prehistoric monuments. On the north side of the lake besides the many circular and longitudinal mounds the early mounds which are most in evidence are the panther mounds. The best panther mound is found on the Wisconsin shore and this is considered the best mounds in the state. It is located on the slopes of a hill and is some twenty four rods in length. Crab Apple point was also mentioned as possessing an exceptionally fine collection of mounds and here it is to be found an old Indian trail which led from the lake to the place where Madison is now situated.

On the south side of the lake other mounds are found, and among them are the turtle mounds and many specimens of the bird mound, and also several bird mounds and one or two from mounds. All these mounds are very interesting to the archaeologist and tell much of the prehistoric days in Wisconsin.

Chas. E. Brown of Madison, secretary of the Wisconsin Archaeological Society told of what has been the purpose of this society and what it had accomplished. He said that the first mound notices by expeditions in this state were found in 1829 on the banks of the Wisconsin river. The earliest discovery of the effigy mound in the United States was made in this state and it is here that the majority of the effigy mounds are to be found. These mounds illustrate their owners and their monuments to their gods and family deities. The mounds around Lake Koshkonong in the opinion of the speaker were the best in the state and were the best preserved. Preservation of these mounds is now being urged by the society and it is hoped that money can be obtained from the state to keep safe these records of the prehistoric man in Wisconsin.

Aeronautics was the subject discussed by C. J. Hendricks and he indicated some interesting things about the flying machine which have not been currently known. The principles of flying have been known for years, he said, but the problem which has been the mechanical application and the supplying of the motor power. The various mechanical problems attendant upon the adjustment of the angle of incidence to other forces and other problems of a mechanical nature have had to solve.

Among the difficulties of flying the speaker said, was the fact that the machine operator had to be aware of the air currents on either side as well as above and below him and had to adjust his machine accordingly. Loss

DEMAND FOR FISH NOT GREAT HERE

Lenten Article of Food, Marked By Low Sales Here—Where the Fish Comes From.

With the metropolitan press telling of the strenuous efforts on the part of the merchants to meet the demand for fish during the Lenten season and stories about the different foreign sources that are tapped to supply the self-indulgent at this time, Janesville seems to be outside the circle of this extraordinary rush. The local merchants are as usual in the expectation of a lack of evidence of any breaking off in meat eating. Whether or not this lack of demand for fish on the part of Janesville people is due to the fact that few of them are seeking to the rules laid down for abstinence during Lent or to some other cause is a matter of conjecture.

The one thing one can be brought to the defense of our city in this matter and that is the extremely low price of eggs. This would, of course, tend to cause people to favor this form of permitted food in preference to fish, this causing a falling off in the sale of the latter. It is to be hoped that this will be accepted as a sufficient excuse and that the fact that little more fish are being sold now than in the winter will not be considered as evidence to the effect that the keepers of Lent are below the usual number this year.

The sources from which the Lenten supply of fish is obtained, are many. Norway, for instance, sends salt mackerel. It comes from cold water and is whiter and choicer than any other mackerel, the dealers say. Herrings in tomato sauce and anchovies also come from the Scandinavian waters. Germany, however, furnishes most of the herring. Every one has heard of the herring being split, baked and pickled in wine vinegar. This best of herring are supposed to come from the East sea. Then there is the Roll-mop herring—split, rolled and pickled—and delicate herring—pickled in wine. Eels also are sent from Germany, and Holland sends herring.

Scotland, of course, furnished the Flannan herring for the epicures. Scotch waters are given the last word in Flannan herring always. Scotland also sends kippered herring, without which an English breakfast table is not complete. Kipper means smoked and pickled. From the coast of England come Yarmouth blenders and anchovy and herring roasts. A French special offering is sardines, lots of kinds of the little fish are on the market. French mackerel, they once in a while boxes, also come from the Gallic republic. Italy's contribution is "antipasto"—that is boned anchovies, peeled and stuffed with olives and mushrooms and packed in olive oil. "Antipasto" usually is served on toast.

Russia, as nearly every one knows, sends caviar, and Japan sends crab meat taken off the coast of Siberia. From Canada come the choicest loaves.

From America preserved fish are sent as follows: haddock, Newfound-land haddock, clams, salmon, crab, Chesapeake bay, whitefish, Lake Erie, green turtle, the Atlantic coast; shrimp, the Gulf of Mexico; codfish, New England; salmon, the Columbia river.

MAIL BOXES TO AID IN GOOD SERVICE

People Are Again Urged To Put Out Receptacles At Homes For Mail.

With a view to facilitate and make efficient the delivery of mail, Postmaster Valentine again is urging the people to obtain receptacles for their mail boxes for letters and packages. Last November, following a request from Postmaster General Hitchcock, a plan was made by the local postoffice authorities to the people of Janesville to put out some form of box at their front doors for the carriers and in some cases this has been heeded. The following is the request that is being made and has been sent out by the postoffice.

"By the direction of postoffice department, the attention of patrons of this office is invited to the advantages of placing receptacles for the receipt of their mail by erecting conveniently accessible boxes or putting suitable slots in their doors. Such action would enable the postmaster to give a prompter and better delivery service with the means at his disposal, since the carriers can cover much more territory in less time if not compelled to wait for an answer to their ring. Private receptacles for mail are also a great convenience to the household, obviating the necessity of responding to the carrier's call at inconvenient moments, and permitting the safe delivery of mail in the absence of members of the household. This also prevents the necessity of the carrier's proceeding to the house without delivering mail because of failure to answer his ring within a reasonable time, and enable him to make deliveries to patrons living on or near the end of the route at an earlier hour."

"It has been shown by actual experience that the benefits derived by patrons of city delivery from the use of such receptacles far outweigh the small expense involved. As this office is interested in furnishing the best possible service to the patrons, we urge your compliance with the foregoing suggestions which will be much appreciated."

Butting In.
The adopted word "bitch" is from the French. It means biting in, and adds the Louisville Courier-Journal, paying entrance fees that are often disproportionate to the rewards of art.

HEAD OF SEMINARY RESIGNS POSITION

Rev. A. L. Whitcomb Leaves Presidency of Evansville Seminary for Chair at Oklahoma College, in Iowa.

[Special to the Gazette.]
Evansville, March 11.—Rev. A. L. Whitcomb, president of the Seminary, has been elected and has accepted a chair of philosophy and ancient literature in the Oklahoma college, Iowa. The many Evansville friends of Rev. Whitcomb and family deeply regret that he has decided to leave here. At the annual meeting of the board of trustees he suggested to them certain conditions that he thought would be necessary for the success of the school. The committee on faculty approved all of these conditions but did not feel able to undertake them at this time and Mr. Whitcomb did not feel justified in continuing his work as president under the suggestions were adopted, so resigned. He will enter upon his new duties in September.

New Garage.
Messrs. Durner and Courter expect to break ground soon for a new garage. The structure will stand just south of the blacksmith shop of A. E. Durner. The building will be 25x100 feet and will be constructed of cement blocks. S. C. Brown of this city has the contract.

Gets Old Letter.
C. H. Harden has just received a letter which is indeed a relief. The letter was one which he wrote to his parents fifty-seven years ago, soon after he had left the city here in New York state to seek his fortune in the gold mines of California. The letter had been kept all these years and its return brought back to him many half forgotten memories. Mr. Harden is now past ninety years of age.

Personal.
Mrs. Vio Campbell will leave next Tuesday for Petersburg, Tenn., where she will visit her daughter, Mrs. Eva Leonard.

Miss Margaret Walker is spending a few days in Whitewater as the guest of Miss Nettie Styles.

V. T. Helm of Madison is the new workman at the blacksmith shop of A. E. Durner.

Miss Nellie Hendricks entertained Miss Della Liebel of Edgerton, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. E. C. Fish returned Monday from a five weeks' visit to relatives in Chicago and Clinton, Ill.

The Rev. Davidson of Milwaukee gave an interesting address to a large audience in behalf of Sunday observance at the union meeting held in the First Baptist church Sunday evening. The city orchestra rendered five selections at this service, and are deserving of the highest praise for the excellence of their music. They have played in the various churches nearly every Sunday evening during the winter, and also furnished music for various entertainments, and on all occasions have generously donated their services, receiving just enough to pay for the music used.

Mrs. Antoinette Horton will move into the flat over the meat market of Barnum and Wolfe.

The Tourist club will meet with Miss Laverne Gilles this evening.

Mrs. S. Gammon, who has been visiting at the home of Ezra Griffith, will return to Milwaukee tomorrow.

Chas. H. Carley of St. Paul was a business visitor here yesterday.

Miss Fannie Scarles spent Saturday in Janesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Misch of Belleville were over Sunday guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knud.

A. Francken visited friends in Madison on Sunday.

The Misses Florence Brown of Harvard and Ethel Brown of Janesville were home to spend Sunday with their parents.

Mrs. Louis Apfel visited relatives in Janesville on Saturday.

A deal has just been closed whereby A. E. Durner becomes owner of the John Reilly property on Maple avenue. Mr. Reilly was here from Beloit yesterday in connection with the transaction.

Peter Smith was in Janesville on business, Saturday.

Mrs. Will Linn went to Janesville yesterday, for a brief visit to relatives.

WORKS OF ART WILL BE ON EXHIBITION

Janesville Art League Will Display Paintings of Illinois Artists in Congregational Church.

Forty-one paintings by Illinois artists will be on exhibition in the parlors of the Congregational church on Thursday afternoon, Friday and Saturday, the display being the traveling exhibit of the Illinois State Federation of Women's Clubs. The pictures were secured through the efforts of the Janesville Art League and no charge will be made for those desiring to see them. The purpose of the exhibition is for the benefit of the lovers of art and to engender a spirit of interest in this subject among others. The Art League social, which was to have been held at the home of Miss Ida Harris, has been postponed because of the exhibit.

BOWLING GAMES IN "NUTTY LEAGUE" LAST EVENING

Chestnuts Victorious in Three Games at Hockett Allys Over the Hazelnuts Team.

The Hazelnuts bowling team in the city league dropped three games to the Chestnuts five at the Hockett alley last night. Cronin of the defeated team made a high score of 221 in the third game, Thursday, evening the Walnuts and Chestnuts will participate in a match. The scores last evening were:

RECOMMENDED BID OF CHICAGO FIRM

Street Assessment Committee Will Submit Bid of Central States Construction Company For Fourth Ave. Bridge To Council.

That the committee for the construction of a steel bridge over Rock river at Fourth avenue, be accepted by the Central States Construction Company of Chicago, will be the recommendation of the street assessment committee to the common council at its next meeting, this coming Monday evening. This action was decided upon at a meeting of the committee yesterday afternoon. The Chicago company's bid was $21,850. With regard to the Iacina street bridge no recommendations were made, the committee being unable to decide as to the kind of bridge desired, there being bids for a steel bridge and for a concrete structure.

KICKERS' KOLUM

I am a kicker and think I have good reason to be. I have boys of my own and my neighbors have boys, and many of them have started on the downward course through the traps set all over our city to catch boys, namely saloons.

It is only of late that the fact has come to my notice that my own boys had been ensnared in some of the traps and no man knows how I felt when I heard it unless he has boys going the same way. Now who shall I appeal to in this case, I can not submit my boys up for that would be unlawful to do so, I can not use the Carrie Nation remedy, for the saloons are protected by the law, if the boys are not. There is no one to appeal to the saloonkeeper for he will tell me he has a license to carry on his saloon work. I cannot appeal to the city council for they are the men who granted the license to these men to carry on these boycatching traps. I knew then of no others to appeal to, but the self-respecting and Christian voters of the city, if they do not come to my relief and the relief of scores of other parents whose boys are being ruined by and through these places of vice, then we must stand and see our boys go down without being able to raise a hand to protect them.

O Christian men especially will you not come to the rescue of those boys and save them by removing these traps, and thus relieve many broken hearted fathers and mothers from suffering such a terrible, and also redeem the fair name of our otherwise beautiful city. The remedy is in your hands. Elect men only to the council who will not grant license and you have the secret. Will you for the sake of the boys, for the parents sake, and for the sake of our city, come to the rescue and fathers and mothers, wives and sisters will bless you for so doing.

CITIZEN.
The arguments used in the above communication are not in accordance with the laws of the city unfortunately. Even if the prohibition aldermen were elected they could only regulate the saloons and not refuse to grant licenses. It is surprising that a father will admit that he is not close enough to his own children to ward them off from the "boy traps" he speaks of and must learn of their steps downward from another. We would suggest that in this case and similar ones, the father can do much to prevent its repetition.

A CRUEL INSTITUTION.

No lover of his kind was he who first conceived the plan of putting off the public's head. A cruel weather man. Who'd sit aloft in high cool place, And bid it be delight, To shoot malicious in times vicious, "No relief in sight!"

The weather bureau and its works. The government thought this. In plans to forest temperatures, And coming storms divine, But how impertinent he waved "Oh, No stopping stay or night!" While times that, fabled, mock, cry, "No relief in sight!"

There was a woman who said tonight, "That public figure seems so tall, And that the public should go to bed, A place that's very hot. An ideal weather man he'd make, For he would vent his spite, In words vicious, most pitiless, "No relief in sight!"

Exchange of Compliments.
Smith and Brown, running opposite ways found a corner, struck each other.

"Oh," says Smith, "how you made my head ring!"

"That's a sign it's hollow," said Brown.

"Didn't yours ring?" said Smith.

"No," said Brown.

"That's a sign it's cracked,"—ideas.

A Modern Family.
"Where is the cook?" "She's in the kitchen preparing supper for the doctor's wife, dinner for the doctor, and breakfast for the students."—Eleganda Bluetten.

"One Touch of Nature Makes the Whole World Kin."

When a rooster finds a big fat worm he calls all the hens in the farm yard to come and share it. A similar trait of human nature is to be observed when a man discovers something exceptionally good—he wants all his friends and neighbors to share the benefits of his discovery. This is the touch of nature that makes the whole world kin. This explains why people who have been cured by Merol Cough Remedy write letters to the manufacturers for publication, that others should have relief. Behind every one of these letters is a warm hearted wish of the writer to be of use to someone else. This remedy is for sale by the Reliable Drug Co., druggists, members of American Drug & Press Association.

The Honorable Senator Sagebrush

By FRANCIS LYND

Copyright, 1910, by Street & Smith

"Don't put it that way, father," protested the son. "I gave you a fair warning. I've got to fight for the right as I see it. I don't think I shall be less than a man, less than your son. Can't you see that it is breaking my heart?"

A silence electrically charged with possibilities settled down over the quiet room for a little while. At the end of the pause the senator rose and put his hand on his son's shoulder. "I haven't a word to say," he said slowly. "As you told me that first day out here, son, it's your job to live to the line and let the chips fall where they may. Go ahead and do what seems right and law abiding to you. I'd rather go to jail twice over than have you do anything else. Is that what you wanted me to say?"

"I thought dropped into a chair as the hand on his shoulder had crushed him and covered his face with his hands. It was hard—harder than even his own predicament had been.

It was a long minute before he staggered to his feet and groped his way to the door, leaving his father standing before the fire with the hand outstretched which had been laid in fatherly affection upon his shoulder. When old Sagebrush had helped him into his coat and had given him his hat he sought Patricia.

"Must you go now?" she queried when he had descended the steps to climb stiffly into the seat beside her. "I nodded.

"Your duty is clear?"

"I nodded again.

"And the consequences?" she asked.

"I don't know," he muttered. "I shall resign from the railroad service and stand with my father when the time comes."

"Don't do it, Evan; don't do it. I have no more than a woman's reason to give you, but I am sure you are opening the door to a lifelong sorrow for yourself and—"

"It was the last two words that steered him to his purpose. Not even for her dear sake would he turn aside from the path of duty and honor.

"I was to be," he said. "That is what the tree was put here for—to stop me."

"She looked up at that.

"Why, if I am so, isn't it? There are no trees growing around here—none at all. Who did it, Evan?"

"Blount shook his head sadly. "There is only one person in the world who could have any strong reason for stopping me," he asserted. "I can't imagine how my father managed it in the short time at his disposal. That tree has been dragged down out of the little canyon since we passed going north. You can see the trail of it in the road."

"Please, Evan," she pleaded, "don't ask me to believe that your father planned it. Why, we might have been killed outright, both of us."

"I know," he returned gloomily. "but—hello, here comes our rescue!"

It was rather a figure of speech than an assurance. Around a turn in the canyon road came three horsemen pointing for the main highway and shouting loudly. They were hardly recognized his three waylayers of the night of mysteries in the Lost River mountains, with Barto in the lead.

"Howdy?" said the timber looper, riding up to hang with one knee over the saddle while he grinned at the two cowboys. "Lost out again, Mr. Blount? Couldn't make out to run your chug wagon over that there pine tree, eh?"

"Did you put the tree in the road?" snapped Blount, with rising anger.

"I reckon we did," was the cool reply, "and it was one job too. Had to drag it in more'n a mile down the gulch with the horse ropes."

"There was material for an explosion, but Blount controlled himself.

"By whose orders did you do it?" he demanded.

"The boss."

"Mr. Huthaway?"

"Not on your life. It was the big boss this time."

Blount's quick glance aside at his companion was a sorrowful "I told you so," and he did not question Barto further.

"Well," he said, turning back to the outlaw, "what is to be done with it?"

Barto pursed his thick lips. "If the lady can make out to ride one of the horses," he began, "there's a right comfortable little shack of a hotel at the head of the gulch, and—"

"But we are on our way to the city," Blount interrupted, still trying to master his impatience.

"The timber looper shrugged.

"All right, I reckon there ain't no law against your walkin' or settlin' down to wait till somebody comes along. But it might be a good while."

Blount turned to Patricia.

"Shall we wait?" he asked, and she nodded quickly, with a look in her eyes that he could not interpret.

"I don't believe we care to go and look for your shack hotel," he said to the timber looper.

Barto swung straight in his saddle and fell into the attitude of one listening. Then the grin became a menace, and he spoke sharply.

"I'll have them papers you got in your pocket and do it sudden!" he commanded. "Then you can stay here till the cows come home if you want to. Quick, lady!"

CHAPTER XIX.

THE RESCUE.

IT was only the car that was disabled. Beyond a severe shaking up neither Patricia nor Blount was seriously hurt. Recovering from the shock and being assured of Patricia's wholeness and his own, Blount sprang out to see what the collision had done to the car. The inspection was brief. With the front axle bent, the radiator crushed and one cylinder of the engine broken, the little car was safely out of commission. "We're done for," he said shortly, helping his companion down from the driving seat.

Patricia was still trembling and pale, and he thought that the accident was a calamity.

"Do you mean—that we can't go on to the city?" she quavered.

"Not unless we wait, and it is exactly fifteen miles. I happened to notice the speedometer record on the roadster when we turned around here last Sunday."

"What shall we do?" she asked when the improbability of any timely rescue made itself apparent.

Blount looked at his watch. It was already a few minutes past 3 o'clock.

"We'll sit down and wait for somebody to come along and rescue us," he said, striving to say it lightly.

"I'm sure we ought to be glad and thankful that it is no worse. We stood a good chance of being killed, both of us."

She shuddered and said: "I might have stopped sooner. There—there was time, don't you think?"

Evan had thought so, and he was regarding her curiously. There had been many motoring experiences in their acquaintance of a year and had a few hazards, and he had more than once rejoiced in her cool presence of mind in the face of sudden danger.

"I wondered a little that you didn't," he ventured to say. "I never saw you hesitate before."

"The look that she gave him was pathetically pleading.

"I stopped—just one little instant to think of your father—and those terrible papers in your pocket and what was going to happen if you should reach Judge Hethaway in time, Evan," she confessed brokenly.

"Can you ever forgive me?"

It was a moment for the brushing aside of charges once and for all, and he took her in his arms—would have done it if the lonely Quaternary road had been the busiest street in the capital.

"You are my brave, loyal daughter," he said. "And because she let him say it and bid the face, from which the cold pallor had suddenly fled, on his shoulder the political struggle and everything pertaining to it became as things of naught and the lonely road the way to paradise.

"The silence of the mountains held them for a moment—a golden silence for the lover, but a moment of keen self-reproachings for the maiden sobbing on his shoulder.

"Oh, I know how I could have done it—but I didn't," she wept. "I was as actually glad when I saw the tree. I didn't have the courage to—to upset the car in the ditch."

Again he comforted her, and the political remedies withdrew into a still smaller region.

"It was to be," he said. "That is what the tree was put here for—to stop me."

She looked up at that.

FORTY YEARS AGO

DARING BURGLARY.

Our newly installed County Treasurer, Mr. B. P. Cary, was not a little startled on entering his office in the court house building this morning, to find that during the night it had been invaded by a force of those lawless desperadoes known as burglars and its interior arrangements sadly knocked out of shape. The operators had blown open the safe, the force of the explosion being sufficient to tear the door from its hinges, and four doors from the hinges, and break them into numberless fragments. The recoil from the concussion threw the safe backward against a heavy partition, whence it bounded forward, and upon the floor with the open end downward. Fortunately there was but little money in the safe—only about one and two dollars in nickels—for Mr. Cary is careful to deposit the funds each night in the bank.

MOST SEVERE COLD IS EASILY BROKEN

In Just a Few Hours All Misery From A Bad Cold or the Grippe Will Be Overcome.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken, will and the Grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach, limbs or any part of the body.

It promptly relieves the most miserable neuralgia—pains, headache, dizziness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world which will cure your cold or Grippe as surely as promptly and with out any other assistance or bad after-effects, as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.
